

Requirements and analysis Design Testing unit

Requirement analysis:

Humanoid robot with the human movement of the arms and movement of the feet based on movement wheels with a back control system for balance and a special computer vision system and a system Automated conversation based on deep learning and neural networks with a type-changing system Conversations and a remote shutdown system in case of emergency.

Design:

Designing the legs of the robot and the appropriate places for the infidels.

Testing:

We place the skeleton installed on the robot man on the cylinder that simulates flat ground and obstacles.